NEWS FROM THE PARISH COUNCIL

Parish Council News June 2019

At long last, after many attempts and seemingly, a vast number of e-mails, I am pleased to say that the Suffolk County Council Highways Department have finally agreed to attend a site meeting to discuss what measures can be taken to calm the traffic entering the village, particularly from the Bacton direction (although, their attention will be drawn to the other roads into the village).

As well as the Highways representatives, there will be number of other interested parties who, we hope, will add their collective clout in our quest to make our roads safer for drivers and pedestrians alike. This meeting will take place next week so, too late for the results to be included in this issue of the Newsletter but we shall report back in the next issue.

Time for a number of "Thank You"s. Liam and his brother Martin (Liam is the new owner of Shadwell House) have done a magnificent job in clearing out and cutting back the laurel hedge that borders the Churchyard and his property. It has made such a difference to that area and exposed some long-lost gravestones.

Also, thanks to the unknown volunteer who washed the road signs on the approach to the village from the Walsham Road.

There are other volunteers who deserve a mention, not only those on the mowing rota for the Churchyard and Cemetery but also those who keep the grass on various triangles under control.

With all the rain we have been having, the grass is growing very rapidly so, it is a continual job to keep everything tidy.

We are all looking forward to this year's Village Fete and hope that everyone will give the organisers their support.

ST BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH

FORGIVENESS

We have many different 'New Years' in our culture. We have the calendar year starting as it does in January, the date that the calendar changes, when we like the Roman God Janus, look back at the past and forward to the future. We are also affected by the tax year which starts in April, for some that might not have a great impact, but for others the end of one tax year and the beginning of another means there is a great deal of work to face. At one point in our recent history there were even advantages to be gained if you married before the end of the tax year.

The Church calendar starts at yet another time of year. Advent Sunday, the start of the Church year, is on the fourth Sunday before Christmas, and that can occur in November or December. As if that were not enough 'starts' for us, there is one other which has a deep significance for many people, and that is the start of the School or educational year. This occurs for most people on some date in September, although if you are moving to University it may not actually start until October. It is this manifestation of the 'New Year' for which many young people are now starting to prepare. The Summer holidays, the time to wind down after one year and think about the start of a New Year.

This idea of 'ending' and 'starting' is not just something associated with the beginning of a 'New Year', it is an integral part of our individual and corporate faith journeys. At the centre of the Christian message is the idea of forgiveness, and linked with that is the capacity to start afresh. At a Walsham le Willows School assembly this past week, I was asked to talk about 'forgiveness' with the children. It was a truly enlightening experience to hear from the pupils how they both understood the concept of wrongdoing, whilst understanding the need to say sorry and accept those apologies from their peers around them in order to move forward with one another in life.

As human beings we all make mistakes, that is something well recognised in the Bible, but equally we are told that the God of the Bible is a forgiving God. There are times in our lives when we need to recognise that capacity to make a fresh start. Our faith and trust in a forgiving God is a model which we are all encouraged to copy. As we are forgiven by God and allowed to start again, so we should forgive each other and allow each other to make a fresh start.

Our Christian faith is about forgiveness and renewal; out with the old, in with the new. May we always live with the knowledge of God's forgiveness and mercy, and reciprocate the same to our fellow brothers and sisters.

Every Blessing,
Philip

ST BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH

Finningham Church Annual Flower Festival

Finningham PCC are very grateful to everyone who helped in any way to the very successful annual flower festival held on May Bank holiday weekend.

This year, the theme was "Take a Book" which the ladies depicted in many wonderful and interesting displays.

Special thanks to Margaret & Andrew Strickland and family for having delicious teas in their home and a big thank you to Val and her helpers for manning the Produce Tent. Thanks also to the team for erecting and dismantling the large marquee and also the stewards in the church.

It was nice to see again our many visitors from this parish and from various parts of our lovely county of Suffolk.

The flower festival raised an excellent amount of £2,636

Lily Elsey, PCC Member

FLOWER FESTIVAL GET TOGETHER

On a very wet and windy day in June, what was to have been a Garden Party for all the women who were involved in the Flower Festival, met in Marion Bell's house and we had a house party.

We were greeted with Tea and Coffee and some scrumptious eats. There were some stalwart husbands there as behind a lot of the Flower arrangements there is a handyman being told what is needed.

The buzz of children was also heard in the house as we could not forget the efforts those young people put in every year to make a children's display a happy, cheerful one.

Thank you once again to Marion for having her house invaded by wet umbrellas and dirty shoes.

NEWS FROM THE PARISH COUNCIL

Litter Pick, Village Tidy Up and General Maintenance

On behalf of the Parish Council I would like to thank the people who helped with the litter pick and work on the Village Green and not forgetting those who litter pick around the village on a regular basis.

The Parish Council is not receiving enough voluntary help and support and are having to rely on the same few people. Regretfully, unless more volunteers come forward to be included on the church mowing rota, helping with the cutting of the cemetery, litter picking and other small jobs the Parish Council will have to consider employing someone to do this work. The cost of which would have to be added to the precept. This would mean every household would have to contribute to the cost. We hope this will not be necessary and more of you will come forward and offer to help. If you have 3- 4 hours a year you could spare please email the clerk at:

finninghamparishclerk@gmail.com

Not only will your services help to keep the precept down it is also a good opportunity to meet and get to know your neighbours.

BOOK REVIEW

The Spotted Dog

Kerry Greenwood

(Allen & Unwin) 2018; 284 pages.

Kerry Greenwood, Australian author of the Phryne Fisher novels, also writes mysteries featuring Corinna Chapman, buxom, beautiful and baker extraordinaire. As Corinna opens the door to her Melbourne bakery early on a weekday morning, a young man hands her an envelope, puts his head on her shoulder and sobs. The first of four mysteries is up and running.

The young man is Alasdair Sinclair, a former soldier back from Afghanistan with suspected post-traumatic stress disorder. He suffers from nightmares, has terrifying flashbacks and there's a high risk of his committing suicide. Alasdair has been attacked and his beloved dog stolen. On the envelope handed to Corinna is a note to Daniel Cohen, Corinna's partner-in-life and a respected private investigator, requesting that he find Alasdair's dog.

The second mystery materialises a short time later. Corinna's assistant shouts out that the shopkeeper next door is attempting to murder his computer technician. Corinna orders the irate owner to take his hands away from the throat of a terrified IT expert and agrees to sort out the problem. It turns out to be a problem that's not easily solved. I know about those.

Mystery three involves another young man. Dion Monk, an elderly resident of an apartment in Corinna's building, comes out of his study to find a comatose body in his lounge room. The police are called.

Two break-ins to Corinna's own apartment constitute mystery four. The first time it happens she wakes from a deep slumber, confronts the intruder, receives two black eyes for her trouble and the prowler escapes. The second time, she's prepared. She hits the burglar with a heavy skillet, ties him up before he regains consciousness, and calls the police.

Greenwood's easy-going style makes this a pleasure to read. Humour, courage, recipes and eccentric characters add to the enjoyment.

GISLINGHAM WI

We meet on the third Wednesday of the month in Gislingham Village Hall at 7.30pm

JUNE

We have just been on a trip to Wells Next the Sea to visit Ware Hall House, a medieval house which was taken down beam by beam and brick by brick and transported to and rebuilt in Wells.

This was done single handedly by a remarkable lady who refused to have her house demolished in its original site in Ware Hertfordshire. Once you visit the house you can appreciate the mammoth task she undertook.

We had a wonderful day and 20 members of the WI thoroughly enjoyed their visit.

JULY

We will be having our summer Tea Party.

AUGUST

We were due to have a speaker but unfortunately she is unable to attend so in true WI spirit we will always come up with an alternative plan.

You are always welcome as a visitor to (as they say) try before you buy!!

ST GEORGE'S DAY DINNER

A letter of thanks from the East Anglia Air Ambulance following a wonderful St George's Day Dinner at the Finningham white horse

Linda Papworth, Rete Jones, The White Horse and the kind supporters of the Finningham Village

Thanks you so much for organising your fantastic donation from your St George's Day Dinner. I hope everyone had a great time! It gives me great pleasure, on behalf of everyone at East Anglian Air Ambulance, to thank you for raising the amazing sum of £310.00. Please pass on my sincerest thanks to everyone who has contributed to this amazing total.

I have enclosed a certificate of appreciation for you to display how much was raised.

Your donation helps people like Charlotte. On 23rd August 2017 Charlotte Salmons suffered a cardiac arrest. Charlotte's husband James instantly reacted to help his wife, calling 999, and beginning immediate CPR. First responders quickly arrived on scene and Charlotte received two shocks from a defibrillator to get her heart back into a rhythm. The EEA Hospital with the EAAA crew by her side. She remained in hospital for two weeks, but despite suffering an arrest at such a young age Charlotte made a great recovery and was soon picking up life as a busy mum once again.

Our helicopters are able to reach anywhere in the region within 25 minutes. Our pilots fly a highly-skilled doctor and critical care paramedic team along with A&E level medical equipment, to patients who have suffered life-threatening accidents and medical emergencies.

We rely on the generous support of the community, without whom we could not continue to provide our life saving service. If you would like to find out about other ways of supporting EAAA please get in touch with our fundraising team and we hope to see you organising another event for us again in the future. Together we really can save lives.

COFFEE CARAVAN

In June when the Rural Coffee Caravan came to Finningham it was announced that they had been awarded the Queen's Award for services to rural communities.

We were privileged to be the Village chosen for the announcement to be made. The official presentation will be made by Lady Clare of Euston Estate at a later date.

FOUR SEASONS

It's summer at last and the nights are warm and short, it makes my job easier. Driving a late bus to Heathrow can get boring - but it is made less so by the wildlife I see in the headlights. There are bats, owls, hares, deer, foxes, rabbits by the dozen, sometimes a badger, and I regret that my passengers usually see none of them. Badgers are common and live all around us but many people never see a live one. Their secretive nocturnal, subterranean habits have served them well. Once they shared the forests with a host of animals which we now regard as African or European - but animals and forests were brushed away by the human tide. Badgers have been killed for sport, entertainment, meat, fur (it makes nice shaving brushes) and TB control but they are still with us.

If you would like to see one you should go to Colchester at silly o'clock and drive along the Avenue of Remembrance. The road is unlit, with parkland on both sides - and at night the animals rule. With a little luck you will see a badger on the grassy roadside. They come out to look for worms and sweet chestnuts - and the occasional jettisoned Meal Deal (but they have to beat the foxes to it). Hedgehogs are also on the diet. Keep one eye on the traffic, it never stops.

Fostering – Did You Know....

It's not just Local Authority that require foster carers?

I work for an Independent Fostering Agency called Foster Care Associates, FCA for short (I mean who doesn't love an abbreviation right)!

FCA is the UK's largest Independent Fostering Agency and we have been fostering children and young people and supporting their carers for over 20 years. We all have our own regions and the sector I work in covers the Eastern region, so Suffolk, Norfolk and Essex.

The fostering sector is significantly low on foster carers, with a record number of children in care, the Fostering Network estimates that we need to recruit at least a further 8600 families in the next 12 months just to cope with the current need.

So, my question to you is, have you thought about Fostering? Is this something you have considered but wasn't sure what was involved, whether it was for you and your family or if you had the skills to be able to undertake this pathway?

What is involved in Fostering?

Many things are involved in Fostering, you can care for babies, teenagers, pregnant mums, mums and their babies, children who need to return to fostering from a residential setting, emergency, long term, short term care, siblings, disability, asylum seeking children, therapeutic or respite. As a foster carer, you would provide a full-time, safe and nurturing family environment, investing time and energy for the wellbeing of a young person and as an agency we would fully support you to do this with extensive training and support from our qualified staff and Social Workers.

Is Fostering for You?

Only you really know the answer to that question, but here are a few things that could help you to make that decision:-

Do you have a spare room?

Do you have the time?

Do you have some experience of caring for and/or working with children?

A level of stability and security in your life

The health and stamina to be able to care for children of all ages

A good support network

No convictions/cautions

Do you have the skills?

Well, all you really need is love and time and the ability to care for and nurture a child, but of course any previous experience working with/raising children is all experience that can be transferred to fostering. There is no maximum age limit to being a carer and you don't need to be married. You can foster as a same sex couple, a home owner, a tenant.

Being empathetic is a must, along with good listening skills, perseverance, flexibility and adaptability and patience and humour.
