FROM THE CHAIR

The Fete planning is well underway and I would like to take this opportunity to update you all on what the committee, volunteers and donors have planned. The theme is traditional seaside and the aim will be to turn the Green into a pier centred on a stage. Like last year the activities will be free with a small entry cost for competitions. There is a Fete pull-out with in the newsletter that details the main entertainment and refreshments but to highlight some of the activities:

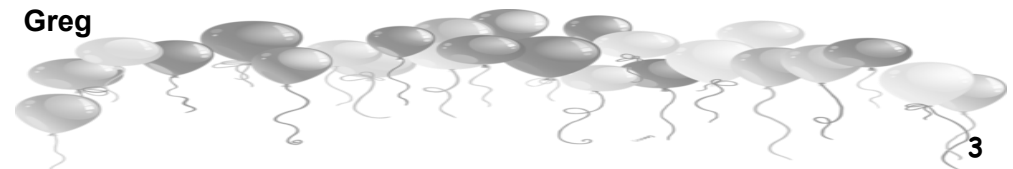

- 4 x Donkeys for children's rides
- Gislingham Silver Band
- Punch & Judy Shows
- Singer and Band
- Bouncy Castle
- Bumper Boats
- Flying Chairs
- Face Painter
- Bar, BBQ, Sweet stall & Ice Cream Van
- Kids games and Competitions

Please have a look at the pull-out for further information but hopefully there is something there for everyone. If anyone can offer anything else please chat and we can include it in the day.

The Friends of Finningham are always looking for new ideas or ways to support the village socially, so If you have any please come and chat; I am usually around either the green, church or pub. Thanks to all the fund raising and donations the account is quite flush at the moment, so we have the ability to maybe do more if we wish.

I look forward to chatting with all about their ideas for future events over the coming months and trying to build on the success of the last few years. And finally, the Committee secretary and treasurer positions are open at the moment, so if anyone would like to fulfil either role please let me or another member of the Committee know.

NEWS FROM THE PARISH COUNCIL

Parish Council Report.

The Parish Meeting, held in the Church on 9th April, was attended by precisely NO members of the Public! Apart from the Councillors, we were visited by our out-going District Councillor, Roy Barker and the Chairman of Friends of Finningham, Greg Atkins. Obviously, there will be those who were away or had other commitments but I cannot believe that this applies to the whole village.

Our first Litter Pick Sunday was similarly very poorly attended but the second one did see more participants. My thanks go to all those who did help in keeping the village clean and tidy. If it was not for those who helped, we would have to employ a contractor to do this work (with a resultant cost to the community).

On the brighter side, the two work parties were able to complete the surrounds of the new slide with gravel boards and new bark in-fill. We have been asked why the slide was installed the opposite way around to the old one and not in the middle of the designated area. It seems that, for Health and Safety reasons, the slide must not face South, in case it burns the users' bottoms in the very hot weather (you couldn't make it up!!). The answer to the off-centre position is because the contractor found concrete from the old installation and had not been given instruction to remove it (again, what is the world coming to?). Our displeasure has been noted by the suppliers but it is unlikely that any remedial action will be taken – although, we are trying to get some recompense.

We are continually trying to find means of advertising forthcoming attractions and happenings in the village. We have the Parish Notice Board, this Newsletter and we put out "A" boards for the Tea @ Bart's and the Coffee & Cakes, Friends of Finningham Facebook Page and the Village website. This still doesn't seem to be enough. We all have busy lives and it is quite easy to forget something. Some time ago, we started a village data base but that was discontinued, as some people objected to having their e-mail addresses available to all. We should like to resurrect it. With the new Data Protection Act we would have to ensure that access to this information is limited to the organisers and not public property.

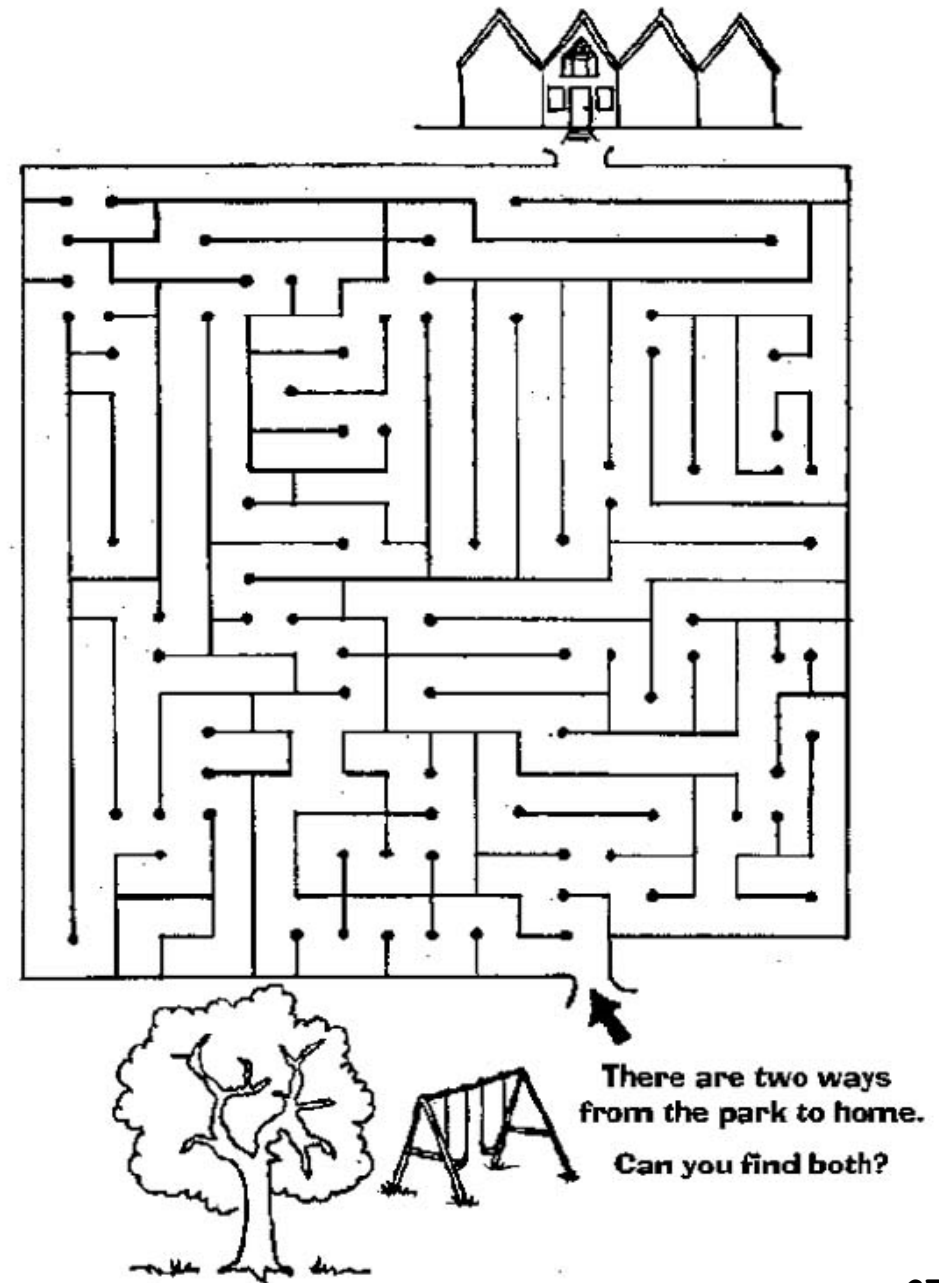

If you want to be included in the database, please e-mail "I'm in" to our Parish Clerk (finninghamparishclerk@gmail.com).

Similarly, if you want to advertise something around the village, we will be able to post it for you.

We are still looking for replacement Councillors so, if you feel that you would like to help us in our quest to make Finningham a more cohesive village, please contact our Clerk, Natalie.

ST BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH

Most days throughout the year within the Churches calendar, are occasions marked down as either Feast Days, Lesser Feast Days or Festivals of some kind or another. Days when the Church throughout the world gives thanks for men and women who often through self-sacrifice have contributed in a special way to the lives of others. Festival Days are set aside for men and women from Biblical times, or national saints such as our own St George.

Lesser Feast Days are often set aside for martyrs and former Archbishops, whilst Festival Days are often for the scholar and social reformers who have contributed to the life of humankind, whether Christian or otherwise. The months of May and June are no exception and indeed throw up many interesting personalities.

In June we remember from the Bible John the Baptist, and a few days before St Alban who was the first English Christian to be martyred for his faith, and gave his name to the Hertfordshire city of St Albans. In case we believe that all Christian martyrs are from an age long ago, on the 3rd of June we remember all those put to their death as Christians in Uganda as recently as the late 20th Century.

But the names that caught my eye when viewing the calendar are those remembered on the 24th May; the evangelists and hymn writers John and Charles Wesley.

Often it feels as if history is the monopoly of politicians, monarchs and military men. Understandably enough, they do seem to get the headlines. In truth, we know that the larger tides that change social and intellectual history sometimes swell from quieter waters. One of those tides swept through 18th century England and around the world, and began in the small Lincolnshire market town of Epworth with the two brothers, John and Charles.

Sons of a Priest and educated at London and Oxford, they gathered around themselves a group of friends to seriously study the spiritual disciplines of Christianity. So regular and devoted were they in their devotion that they were mockingly nicknamed 'Methodists.' The rest is as they say 'History,' and the Methodist denomination is still very much active to this day.

Both brothers took Holy Orders in the Church of England, but never took up a post as 'vicars,' John famously declaring that 'The World is my Parish.' He may not have covered the world, but he is said to have ridden some 250,000 miles on horseback and to have preached more than 40,000 sermons.

Pulpits of the Anglican churches were often closed to the Wesley brothers because of their radical ideas, which caused controversy within the established church. On one famous occasion John was to stand in

ST BARTHOLOMEW'S CHURCH

Epworth churchyard upon the tomb of his father, preaching to the vast crowds. stained-glass portraits in Epworth Church are John's last words; 'The best of all is, God is with us.'

Whilst also a fine preacher, Charles turned his passion to writing more than 3,000 hymns, which to this day are part of every hymnal the world over. 'Hark the Herald Angels Sing,' 'O For a Thousand Tongues,' and 'Love Divine, All Loves Excelling,' being just a few. I am sure that at the forthcoming Songs of Praise in St Bartholomew's Church on Sunday 5th May, following on from the Flower Festival, we will be singing one or two of Wesley's hymns.

Every Blessing

Philip
Parish Rector

Mothering Sunday at St. Bartholomew's.

Once again this year we had a heart warming family service on Mothering Sunday led by our Rector Philip who challenged us to a question and answer session. All the questions referred to Mothers.

Here are a few:

Found in an oyster?

Head of a Covent ?

John the Baptist's mother ?

Aladdin's mother ?

First mother in the Bible ?

Shop that sells baby clothes ?

Jesus' Mother ?

Moses' Mother ?

(We didn't know that one do you ?)

It was great fun. The children as usual were very busy making cards for their Mums while trying to eat delicious cakes at the same time.

INSIGHTS

Stressed?A simple way to manage your stress without withdrawing from society... which itself would be a stressor. For many of us stress is all around us, nibbling away at us constantly. It comes in both physical and emotional forms with modern life providing more major life changing events than ever before.

Common signs of stress are headaches, insomnia, tight muscles, infections, twitches/ticks, itches, fatigue and on the mental side; loss of confidence, fuzziness, irritability, anxiety and depression.

Stress triggers the 'fight or flight' response in our bodies, but unlike our caveperson ancestors we rarely run or fight. In those days there was a physical threat, the cave person responded and then it was over ... one way or another! If you survived then you had processed all that adrenaline that had been released in your response to the event and once safe you could relax. Today's world does not allow for that recovery as we are just bombarded with the next thing. However (and this may not be a comfortable read for us), stress is ours. What does that mean "stress is ours"? Stressors happen to us. These are those events both big and small mentioned above. Stress is only created in how we respond to the events.

We can't hide from these stressors without withdrawing from society... which itself would be a stressor. What we can do is manage our stress levels. Stress is like the drip tray on your coffee machine or the drain filter on the dishwasher....it needs a little maintenance to stop it overflowing. Personally the best maintenance that I have come across is a holiday away. Great, but not something that is always accessible or affordable at the frequency it may be required.

As you know there is always another way and the simplest and cheapest is to breathe well. I have covered breathing in a previous article / blog July / August 2018, please refer to that for more detail. Other simple methods are getting back to nature, meditating or doing something you enjoy - maybe something like singing, or painting. The important thing here is to regularly do your maintenance. If you are not aware of your stress levels then ensure you do your maintenance at set intervals – like a car service, but more frequent! If you are aware of your stress level then you can tune the frequency as required. There is another way ...

BOOK REVIEW

Kingdom of the Blind (Louise Penny, (Sphere) 2018; 386 pages)

Louise Penny has released her 14th book in the Gamache mystery series. It's a police procedural with heart.

Myrna Landers, retired psychologist, Chief Superintendent Armand Gamache of the Sûreté du Québec and Benedict Pouliot, a builder, have been appointed executors of Bertha Baumgartner's will. The three give the impression they don't remember ever meeting her. Nevertheless, they accept the responsibility, visit the dilapidated Baumgartner family home and discover a body. The pathologist rules out a natural or accidental death.

Although Gamache is not officially investigating the murder, he takes an interest in its progress. His main concern is the expected arrival onto the Canadian social scene of a new recreational drug, carfentanil. A grain or two will generate a fantastic feeling of well-being. Unfortunately, even a slight overdose will cause death.

To add to our interest, a major embezzlement at an investment bank is unearthed and it's thought to be linked to the Baumgartner family.

Kingdom of the Blind is a cozy crime novel, a tale of love, revenge and tragedy. It's an accomplished whodunit with witty dialogue and quirky, eccentric characters. An enjoyable read.
